

Cat News Archive on CD
1984-2006

Now entering its 24th year of publication and 46th Issue, Cat News continues to provide subscribers with a wide-ranging collection of scientific papers, articles, case studies and news items about wild cats.

Each issue of Cat News is at least 40 pages in length and features a cat species on its cover. Articles are submitted by Cat Specialist Group members, as well as other cat specialists from around the world. The editorial team gathers material from many sources, including journals, magazines and the Internet, and solicits special contributions around topics of interest.

The entire Cat News Archive is available in CD format!

In addition to providing full PDF versions of issues 1-45 of Cat News, the CD is also equipped with a search index developed by G. Chapron of www.carnivoreconservation.org.

The IUCN/SSC Cat Specialist Group brings together some 200 of the world's leading cat experts from 57 countries, including scientists, wildlife managers and conservationists. Together with over 120 other specialist groups, it is part of the Species Survival Commission (SSC) of the World Conservation Union (IUCN). The Cat Specialist Group aims to create a centralized source of leading information about wild cat species through a series of communication tools, including its website, the Digital Cat Library, the Project of the Months, various online compendia focused on specific topics or species, and its official newsletter, Cat News.

Your purchase of the Cat News Archive will help to support the production of future issues of Cat News.
